STATUTES OF INDIANA

GAVIN & HORD'S REVISION.

The second volume of Mesers. Gavin & Hard's compiletion of Indiana Siz utes has just appeared. This volume completes their work. Its mechanical execution is very creditable; and the skill, learning, and labor which the editors have bestowed on it, ment the highest praise. None but learned, diligent lawyers could have produced such a work. The second volume embraces all the public statutes of Indiana now in force upon the subjects to which it relates, and the first all excepting the acts of the last regular and extra sersions of the Legislature. It is a great excellence of the compilation that all existing statutes on each sulfect are collected together in the same place in these volumes; so that the reader can see at a glance all the legislation in force on any given subject. Take, for example, the act of 1852, organizing Courts of Common Pleas-the editors publish the act at large, and they also print, in the form of notes on the same page- containing this statute, all the acts amendatory to it which have been passed up to this time. And so they have done of all the other acts centained in the revision of 1852.

The editors have added much to the value of these volumes-especially the last-by the copious and learned notes with which the volumes abound. These notes indicate much labor and legal acumen. They furnish us, in a concise and accurate form, with all the ad udications of our: SupremerCourt on these statutes. These signdications being now very numerous, the references to them in the volumes under consideration, will be of great value to the lawyer, and indeed to all persons concerned in the adutinistra ion of justice. The edit is have also referred, in their notes, to numerous decisions in other States, made on statutes similar to ours. An excellence of these volumes, not to be overlooked, is the full and accurate index appended to each. In Indiana, there never has been a good index to any volumes of statutes published by authority. This provoking defect has been completely remedied in the volumes under review; and those indexes will greatly lighten the labor of all who have occasion to look into our statutes. This is the first time that private enterprise has attempted the publication of Indiana statutes. The sttempt, I do not doubt, will be successful, and will duly reward the learned editors and enterprising publishers. Every lawyer will, of course, purchase these volumes; and every clerk, sheriff, and justice of the peace of the State, will find it to his advantage to own them. DAVID M'DONALD.

signed as a puff of the work, but is an unsolicited commendation of the ability, accuracy, and completeness with which these volumes have been prepared. The second volume, which has just been issued from the press, is being delivered to subscribers as rapidly as possible. This edition of the statutes will be found a necensity to every lawyer, ju-tices of the peace, and county officers in the State. The publication of the work is a private enterprize, and the publishers' only hope for re-pages of matter, nearly double the quantity embraced in the revision of 1852. The price of the work is $4 50 per volume, or $9 00 for the two volumes. Orders addressed to the subscriber will
